

Role: Level Designer/World Builder

Location: Remote Home Working (candidate must be based in the UK)

About Rivet Games

Rivet Games is aiming to create the best content for a variety of video games. We mainly specialise in Simulation style gaming, with multiple DLC releases already available for the Dovetail Games' Train Simulator World products on PC and Console.

Role overview

Rivet Games is looking for a passionate world builder with a good artistic eye for creating believable real-world environments. In this role you will use a library of 3d assets to recreate maps based on real world locations.

Responsibilities

- Design and create virtual environments using 3D assets and in-game development tools.
- Co-ordinate with other team members to deliver a complete product to the consumer.
- Work as part of a team to resolve design and gameplay issues as they emerge during development.
- Critically review content produced for the product at each stage of development.
- Time management and organisation of current workload.

What we are looking for

- A game developer with an ability to create authentic environments based on the real world.
- Skills working in Unreal 4 or a similar game engine.
- Must be self-motivated, have good communication skills and be able to effectively work in a team environment.

Rivet Games benefits

- Remote working with compulsory studio meetings every 6 weeks in central Scotland
- 26 days discretionary leave, plus 8 company assigned days
- 37.5 hour week with main core hours from 10:00am - 4:00pm
- Regular subsidised social activities
- Employee referral bonus
- Maternity, paternity, shared parental, adoption and dependent leave available
- Game jams on company time
- Regular subsidised social events
- Work as a key part of a small team on projects with a typical length of 3-6 months
- Credited for your contributions to our releases where applicable.

We are committed to promoting equal opportunities and diversity, and all applicants will be considered on their merit, qualifications, competence and talent regardless of any protected characteristics. We are currently unable to employ anyone who does not have the legal right to live and work in the UK.